INSPIRING

CHANGE

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Prospective Student,

It is my great pleasure to welcome each of you to Harris-Stowe State University. We are excited to have you join our history of rich traditions. HSSU is a thriving institution of higher education at which you will be exposed to many exciting opportunities – both academic and extracurricular.

Founded more than 155 years ago, Harris-Stowe is one of Missouri's oldest public institutions of higher education, offering 14 baccalaureate programs in the areas of education, business and arts and sciences. We look forward to hosting you as our new scholars.

Located in the heart of the city of St. Louis, Harris-Stowe has undergone massive campus expansion and is proud of its many recent additions that include both facilities and academic degrees.

We know you will find a degree program at Harris-Stowe that suits your interests and future career plans.

Our graduates have gone on to serve as federal judges, media and military professionals and health care administrators, to simply name a few. Harris-Stowe graduates are represented in numerous industries in various parts of the world, and we are so proud of their contributions to society and accomplishments!

It's a great time to be a student at Harris-Stowe, and we are eagerly waiting your arrival to our campus. We are happy that you have decided to take an even closer look and even more pleased with the possibility of you joining our student body. With so many options available, we know that choosing a university is a huge decision. We are a unique institution committed to giving our students attentional resources needed to excel in a postsecondary environment. Each of our degree programs is nationally accredited and our dedicated faculty and staff will help you succeed in all of your endeavors. We encourage you to take advantage of all that HSSU has to offer!

Warmest regards,
Dr. Dwaun Warmack
President

The vision for the school is to be recognized for:

- Academic excellence;
- Community-focused research, services and creative activities;
- A reputation for adding value to the St. Louis business community;
- Active engagement in local, national and global business work force as a partner with businesses

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

Originally founded as a Teacher Education institution, Harris-Stowe State University has more than 155 years of experience of preparing students to instruct in the classroom. Students receive a well-rounded educational experience that prepares them to become highly competent well-rounded educators who can adapt to any classroom situation. The nationally and state-accredited HSSU College of Education offers degree programs in Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Middle School Education, Secondary Education and Educational Studies.

The mission of the department is to prepare “Effective Teachers for a Diverse Society.” In alignment with the mission of the university and national and state standards, the unit demonstrates its commitment to preparing educators who have content-pedagogical mastery and who possess the knowledge, skills and dispositions to be effective classroom instructors.

The College of Education looks forward to continuing a legacy of excellence in exemplary teacher preparation for the local and surrounding communities, the state, the nation as a whole and a global society all encompassed.

EARLY CHILDHOOD

This degree program prepares students to teach children (birth - grade 3) and consists of a general education foundation, a professional studies component and clinical experiences. Candidates will be prepared to enter an exciting profession that uses teaching methods and facilitates the growth and mental development of children.

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION

This degree program prepares students to teach at the elementary school level (grades 1-6) and consists of a general education foundation, a professional studies component, including content, methodology, clinical experiences and a 21-credit hour area of concentration.

MIDDLE SCHOOL EDUCATION

This degree program prepares students to teach at the middle school level (grades 5-9) in the subject areas of English, mathematics, social science or biology.

SECONDARY EDUCATION

This degree program prepares students to teach at the high school level, specifically grades 9-12. Students may concentrate their studies by selecting one of the following specializations: English, mathematics, social science or unified science: biology.

PROGRAM FEATURES

- Flexible class schedules, which includes evening and Saturday classes to accommodate the needs of students with full-time or part-time jobs;
- A strong curriculum to provide students with the skills necessary for successful teaching in the subject areas;
- Historic partnerships with P-12 schools facilitating practical field experiences;
- Focused class work, combined with mentored student teaching experiences, preparing highly effective teachers for our diverse society.

NATIONAL ACCREDITATION

All Teacher Education programs are accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) and approved by the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE).

COLLEGE OF ARTS & SCIENCES

The College of Arts & Sciences offers degree programs in three separate departments: Behavioral and Social Sciences, Mathematics and Natural Sciences and Humanities. Harris-Stowe's College of Arts & Sciences is making exceptional strides nationally and locally in the areas of science, technology, engineering and math (STEM).

Criminal Justice

The program in Criminal Justice (CRJ) has two concentrations, Law Enforcement and Juvenile Justice. These degree programs are designed to prepare students to meet the needs of the criminal justice and national security systems. The flexible curriculum provides each student with an understanding of how policies and practices of the justice system relate to our multicultural society.

Career opportunities include, but are not limited to, becoming members of state or local police forces, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, private and public securities systems, juvenile officers, criminologists or attending law school.

Urban Affairs

The Urban Affairs (URAF) program provides the student with two areas of concentration, Urban Affairs and Public Administration. The degree program is not designed to provide direct entrance into any area of public education, but instead designed to equip the student with analytic and applied research skills, which are useful within the public, nonprofit and private sectors concerned with urban problems, urban development and community services.

Students who major in this degree program have opportunities for entry-level positions in a variety of areas and organizational settings. Among these areas are nonprofit organizations, consulting firms, state and local agencies, policy analysts, staff assistants, urban planner, program developer or in the human service area and community development.

Professional Interdisciplinary Studies

The degree in Professional Interdisciplinary Studies (PRIS) offers students the opportunity to develop a customized plan of study from not less than two or more than three of the academic areas offered at the university. This approach allows the student to create a course of study tailored to their career and academic interests. For example, a student might combine study in psychology and management and organizational behavior in order to pursue an interest in human resource development or occupational counseling. The PRIS degree offers the student the opportunity to follow a variety of academic and occupational interests.

Mathematics

Harris-Stowe's Bachelor of Science in Mathematics provides an in-depth survey of a breadth of pure and applied areas of mathematics. The degree requires a minimum of 120 credit hours and prepares graduates for a multitude of possibilities, including graduate school, actuary scientist, statistical analyst, investment analyst and security analyst, to name a few.

General Education

By offering many of the general education courses at Harris-Stowe, the College of Arts & Sciences is the gateway to all degree programs at the university. Additionally, the department, in collaboration with the College of Education, provides course offerings in many areas of content knowledge concentrations, including fine arts, computer education/technology, English, mathematics, music and natural sciences leading to B.S. degrees in Early Childhood, Elementary School, Middle School and Secondary Education.

Biology

Students majoring in Biology may select one of three minors: Pre-med, which requires a minimum of 124 credit hours; Urban Ecology, which requires a minimum of 123 credit hours or General Biology, which requires a minimum of 120 credit hours.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Financial assistance is an important factor to consider when selecting a college and when planning how to fund your education. Many students and their families may face financial challenges in regards to being able to fully fund tuition and other costs related to attending college without the option of financial assistance.

The Office of Financial Assistance can provide assistance in completing financial aid applications and providing information about available aid. There are several options to consider such as grants, scholarships, federal and private guaranteed student loans, work study and college employment positions.

Once the need is calculated, the student is awarded and mailed a financial assistance award letter which the student must sign and return to the Office of Financial Assistance.

How Assistance is Determined

Federal financial assistance is awarded based on financial need as defined by Congress. The information you report on your Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) or renewal application is used in a formula that calculates your Expected Family Contribution (EFC). The EFC is an amount you and your family are expected to pay toward your education.

The Cost of Attendance (COA) minus the EFC equals your financial need. The COA includes the cost of tuition, fees, housing and food allowance, books, supplies, child care, costs related to a disability and miscellaneous expenses.

Estimated Cost of Attendance		(Per Semester): In-State Tuition
Tuition		$2,388 (12-16 credit hours)
Student Fees		$222
Books		$500
Housing		$3,500
Insurance		$120.40
Meal Plan		$1,300 (18 meals/week)
Total		15,560.80 annually

Estimated Cost of Attendance		(Per Semester): Out-of-State Tuition
Tuition		$4,704.36 (12-16 credit hours)
Student Fees		$222
Books		$500
Housing		$3,500
Insurance		$120.40
Meal Plan		$1,300 (18 meals/week)
Total		$19,934.32 annually

STUDENT LIFE

With a student center that includes a game room, gymnasium, workout facility and volleyball court, among many other fun features on campus, there are an abundance of activities and classmates ready to socialize. Through the multitude of student activities also available, there are plenty of opportunities to meet new people and to get involved at HSSU.

There are academic clubs to join, such as Math Club and Pre-Law Club, and for those students who shine academically, there are a number of honor societies in which to be inducted such as the honor society for Education, Kappa Delta Pi and Sigma Tau Delta, the international English honor society. Embrace your artistic side by joining the Art Club or the Concert Chorale. Greek life is prominent on campus with nine fraternities and sororities to pledge.

With seven athletic teams, there are plenty of opportunities to cheer on the home team, the Hornets, as well as intramural sports to compete against your peers and even faculty and staff.

Every year, Harris-Stowe celebrates Homecoming with a parade, dance and tailgate party, along with many other festive events. With so many outside events held on campus too, campus life is always exciting.

RESIDENTIAL LIFE

Named for Harris-Stowe State University's longest-serving regent, the Rev. Dr. William G. Gillespie Residence Hall and Student Center opened in August 2006. Gillespie Hall houses 228 students in four-bedroom suites, equipped with a common living and dining area, kitchenette and two bathrooms. Additional amenities include a workout facility and laundry room.

Many other amenities are just seconds away on the first floor of the residence hall: the dean of Student Affairs, Office of Student Activities, Counseling and Health Services offices, game room, computer lab and university Bookstore, all of which are open to residents and nonresident students of Harris-Stowe.

Harris-Stowe State University's newest residence hall opened fall 2011 and includes 198 beds for freshmen students. All freshmen will enjoy suite-style facilities, which include a furnished living room, kitchenette, dining area and private bathrooms. Some of the suites are single-bed suites, with a private bedroom for each student, and others are double-bed suites in which two students share a bedroom. Every floor includes a lounge, and two quiet study rooms in each wing.

The Dr. Henry Givens Jr. Administration Building, which houses most classes and university offices, is only a two-minute walk from both Gillespie and Bosley Hall. For more information about Residential Life, contact us at (314) 340-5300 or at residencelife@hssu.edu.

Academic Resource Center

The Academic Resource Center offers comprehensive academic assistance and provides activities, materials and personnel to assist all students and faculty. The services and programs provided include media resources, peer tutoring and professionals in a variety of subjects, access to test preparation and reference materials and various workshops. Additionally, the Academic Resource Center offers basic skills and test preparation courses, a college testing service and GED testing. For more information, contact the Academic Resource Center at (314) 340-3650.

Career Services

Resources are available in the Office of Career Services to provide students with information about occupations, career fields, resume writing, job search strategies, interviewing techniques, labor market trends and employers. Individual career counseling appointments can be made for assistance with issues such as exploring career alternatives, career transitions, internship opportunities, resume development, interviewing skills and job search strategies.

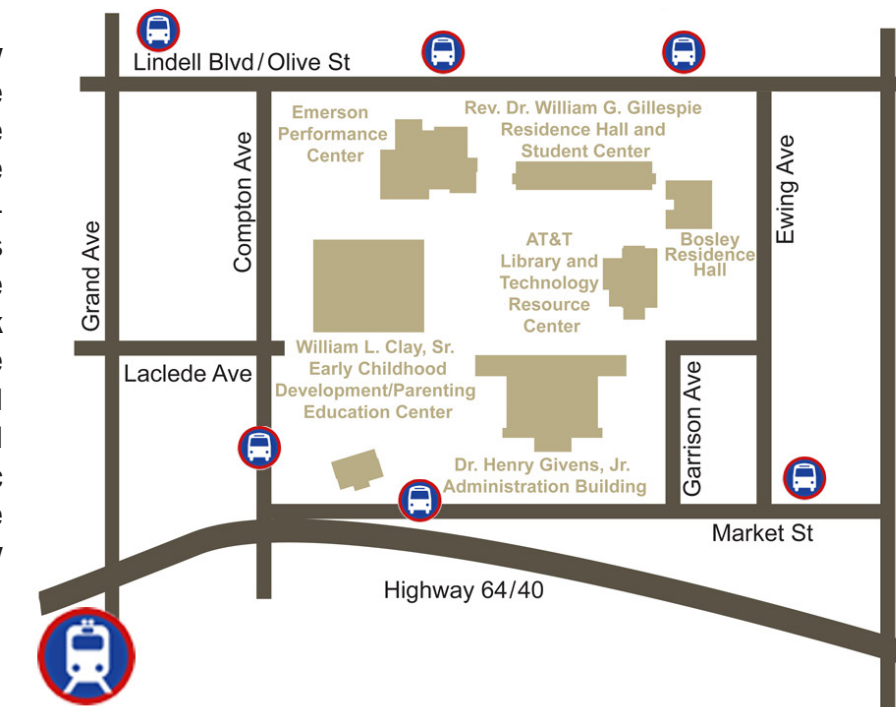

Each spring, a teacher career fair and a general career fair are held to assist students with meeting employers who are hiring for co-ops, internships and career positions. Because Harris-Stowe was founded as a Teacher Education institution, Career Services also hosts an annual teacher interview day specifically for the students and alumni of its longest-established degree program.

The Office of Career Services schedules employers for on-campus information sessions, recruiting and interviewing.

Campus Location

Harris-Stowe State University is conveniently located in the heart of midtown St. Louis. The campus is easily accessible from interstates 44, 55, 64 and 70. Metro Transit has bus stops located at the entrance of the campus and a MetroLink station is less than one mile from our campus. Well-lighted free parking is available and patrolled by full-time public safety officers to provide additional security, both day and night, 24 hours a day.

See for yourself!

See for yourself what Harris-Stowe State University has to offer. The only way to truly determine is to schedule a visit to our campus. You can tour the campus with a current student, visit with faculty or an athletic representative or schedule an appointment with an Admissions officer.
